Don't stop Beliebing

Young writer's disabled brother wants to meet Justin Bieber She's created a Facebook page to get the word out, but it's gotten many messages mocking her brother and the singer

PHYLICIA TORREVILLAS/FOR METRO; INSET: CONTRIBUTED

Rahela Nayebzadah will do everything to make her brother's dream come true.

Rasool, 21, got hit by a car when he was five while he was crossing the street at Central Park in Burnaby with his two sisters. It left him brain damaged and partially paralyzed.

His wish is to meet Justin Bieber.

"Ever since we went to his concert, he just can't stop talking about him," said Nayebzadah, 26. "He always asks me to introduce Justin to him.

"I've seriously tried everything. I've tweeted him so many times. I've added his manager and his mom. I've also tweeted his fans. I joined Twitter just for that."

She also made a Facebook group page called Help a Disabled Fan Meet Justin Bieber. It has more than 3,600 members.

She was happy about strangers joining the group and showing their support, but the comments started turning negative and hurtful.

"A lot of people were making fun of Rasool and Justin Bieber," she said. "I'm not asking people to like Justin, and I thought of cancelling it, but this is about my brother's dream."

She also wrote a novel about her family's journey from Afghanistan to Canada, Rasool's accident and how their family is dealing with it.

"It's called Jeegarah Ma, meaning My Love," she said. "I locked myself at home for five months (last summer). I didn't even leave and I just wrote it."

She said she's very excited a Toronto publisher picked it up because people will get a chance to know her brother's story.

"I think it's getting published (in September 2012) because I put my heart and soul into it," she said. "I'm so passionate about my brother and I love him so much. I'm doing this for him."

The final countdown on HST

The fate of the Harmonized Sales Tax will be signed, sealed and delivered by Friday evening.

The outcome of the mail-in referendum, however, won't be known until Aug. 25 as the counting process gets underway after the passing of the voting deadline.

Elections BC spokesman Don Main said anywhere from 60 to 100 staff will be working two shifts a day, seven days a week to ensure the results are counted as quickly, and accurately, as possible.

"It's the same process we go through during an election, except it's done in one location," Main said.

The only other mail-in referendum in B.C.'s history — a 2002 questionnaire on treaty negotiations — generated a 37 per cent voter turnout.

Main said it was too early to tell what the turnout for the HST referendum will be.

Meanwhile, the NDP vowed to campaign against the tax up to the eleventh hour and unveiled a "Top 65" list of reasons to extinguish the controversial tax on Thursday.

Opposition leader Adrian Dix said the "only thing" that would save the tax is a low turnout and urged people to hand in their ballot in person by 4:30 p.m. at designated locations. It is too late to send the referendum ballots through regular mail.

Government won't budge on euthanasia

- Nicholson says no plan to discuss assisted suicide in Parliament
- AG office lawyers have argued against two challenges in B.C. court system

MATT KIELTYKA
@METRONEWS.CA

The federal government remains staunchly opposed to euthanasia as two legal challenges go forward in British Columbia.

Federal Attorney General Rob Nicholson hosted a regional crime forum in Vancouver Thursday and reaffirmed the Conservative government's position on the right to die.

"The question of euthanasia was rejected in Parliament," Nicholson said. "We're not bringing up the issue."

Gloria Taylor, a West Kelowna resident suffering from Lou Gehrig's disease and seeking a doctor-assisted suicide, won the right to have her constitutional challenge of the Criminal Code fast-tracked at B.C. Supreme Court this week.

A four-week summary trial, challenging sections of the code making assisted suicide illegal, has been scheduled for Nov. 15.

Meanwhile, the Farewell Foundation will find out later this month whether its right-to-die civil claim can go forward in B.C. Supreme Court, and its director has already indicated he's ready to take his fight all the way to the Supreme Court of Canada.

But Nicholson suggested the government's stance is unwavering, no matter the outcome in court.

"I don't comment directly on anything that's before the court. We're arguing on the constitutionality of the existing laws of this country and we're not interested in introducing (euthanasia) in Parliament," he said.

Call them the twisted sisters

They've made one horror film, another's on the way

PHYLICIA TORREVILLAS
VANCOUVER@METRONEWS.CA

Vancouver twin sisters Jen and Sylvia Soska have taken the next step in their quest to break through in the testosterone-filled world of horror films.

The Soska sisters say it has been a long journey since they made their Vancouver-filmed, low-budget bloodbath feature Dead Hooker in a Trunk in 2007.

But their hard work has paid off: U.S. distributor IFC Midnight picked up the film last month.

Their debut film will be showing across the U.S. and Canada in limited, special midnight theatrical screenings.

"We started making a fake trailer (for our final school project) and decided to show it," Sylvia said. "Half of the audience walked out and the other half was laughing and cheering."

After seeing the great response, the Soska sisters wrote the script within two weeks and maxed out their credit cards to make the full feature film.

They wrote, directed, produced, starred in and performed their own stunts for the film.

Now the pair are busy filming their second feature, American Mary, about a med student who gets involved in messy underground surgeries.

Canada-wide alert ends, Penticton sex attack suspect held nearby

Mounties had launched a Canada-wide search for a man accused of a vicious assault on a young mother. But he was found just 50 kilometres away — in plain sight.

David Wesley Bobbitt was arrested Wednesday night near the town of Oliver, B.C.

Bobbitt is accused of attempting to murder a 22-year-old woman who was beaten for hours and sexually assaulted in Penticton — all in front of her 22-month-old son.

Heide Held, whose family owns Hillside Orchards in Oliver, said Bobbitt had been camping for two days on the boundary of her family's orchard.

RCMP

▶ David Wesley Bobbitt

She said she assumed he was a transient fruit picker and said her father spoke with him briefly and asked him to move his camp so he could spray some trees.

It was only after the police arrested the man that they made the connection, Held said.

"My dad looked at the picture this morning and said 'Oh my God, that's the guy I talked to,'" she said

RCMP Cpl. Dan Moskaluk said Bobbitt was captured after an orchardist asked a man attempting to camp on his property to move on.

The orchardist phoned an RCMP friend and Bobbitt was arrested walking down the highway.

Legendary drive-in Triple O's launches mobile food truck

VANCOUVER@METRONEWS.CA

A B.C. restaurant known for its legendary drive-in is taking its show on the road.

White Spot's Triple O brand is launching a mobile food truck, which it claims is a first for a Canadian quick-service chain.

"Founder Nat Bailey used to sell hotdogs and hamburgers out of his Model T," said Scott Lewis, Triple O's director of operations. "He was the pioneer of this kind of idea."

The mobile food truck will support charitable organizations, including Variety Club and KidSport, and be hauled to events like the Abbotsford Airshow, Aug. 12 to 14.

Lewis said Triple O's also hopes to use the vehicle as a testing facility.

The truck will feature new products such as pulled-pork poutine, a barbecue bacon burger with caramelized onions, and an orange creamsicle milkshake.

"We're hoping people love our food in the trucks so much that they'll come to our White Spot restaurants," said Lewis.

Man arrested after woman stabbed to death

Police have arrested a man after a woman was found stabbed to death and her 18-year-old son was critically hurt in a violent attack on Gabriola Island.

The tiny island just east of Nanaimo was in virtual lockdown overnight as police on land and in boats and helicopters hunted for 37-year-old Jason Cramer, who was eventually taken into custody without incident.

"Any vehicle that left the island last night was searched," RCMP Sgt. Cheryl Armstrong said Thursday.

Cramer was arrested Thursday morning not far from where Elaine Schwartz, 50, was killed. Her 18-year-old son Trevor was taken to hospital with serious injuries, though Armstrong said he has regained consciousness.

Wrongly accused? Tough luck

If you do by chance find yourself wrongly accused on Cheaterville.com, don't expect the website to take the post down.

Founder James McGibney says they don't play judge or jury. "We don't decide whether we believe that someone's telling the truth about an alleged cheater or not," he said.

According to Internet and defamation lawyer Gil Zvulony, if the accusations are both false and damaging, it could become a libel suit. But suing the website might not get you very far. While the defamation laws in Canada are different from the U.S.'s, Zvulony says the legalities aren't clear.

"It's certain in the U.S. they're immune from liability, it's uncertain in Canada," he said. "The law is completely different here, it's sort of uncharted territory. The law is not clear where websites may be liable or not."

While McGibney says the premise of the site is to help warn people before starting a relationship with a potential heartbreaker or sociopath, Zvulony says there could be a lot of repercussions to those who are falsely accused in such a public venue.

"My concern is that a lot of innocent people's lives are going to be hurt by this website, and a lot of marriages are going to break up and a lot of kids are going to have divorced parents because some idiot went on this website," he said. "The law as it stands today leaves a lot of loopholes for people to get away with this kind of thing."

Cheaterville.com allows users to accuse others of infidelity Site has 10,000 profiles of alleged cheaters

CHEATERVILLE.COM

For those with an itch to cheat, there's a new reason to think twice before sneaking around. Unless you want to risk being outed online.

Cheaterville.com, a U.S.-based website that made its way to Canada last month, allows anonymous users to post stories accusing friends, enemies, coworkers, ex-lovers and acquaintances of infidelity.

The site currently has about 10,000 profiles of alleged cheaters, which include full name, age, hometown, marital status, photos and other information.

The infidelity stories are not verified but that doesn't worry founder and CEO James McGibney.

"There's lots of things on the Internet and not everything is validated. At the end of the day, it's up to the person who's reading the post to determine whether it's true or not," said McGibney, noting that the site is moderated and posts with nude photos, personal phone numbers or credit card information are not allowed.

McGibney launched the site on Valentine's Day in Las Vegas and it has been gaining popularity since then.

A former U.S. marine, McGibney says he decided to start Cheaterville.com after a fellow marine found out his wife had been cheating on him during his deployment. Less than six months later, the site gets about 250,000 hits on a slow day, and McGibney hopes that it will soon reach a solid five million weekly hits.

Critics, however, argue the site provides angry exes with an outlet to spread false information, ruin careers and break up families.

One Canadian listed on Cheaterville.com, who wished to remain unnamed, denied the accusations and said the site has no business publicizing private matters. The allegations could cause their family enormous distress and ruin their professional reputation, the accused added.

TRIAL MATTERS

Mubarak evidence gets sorted

A day after the start of Hosni Mubarak's trial, seven of his co-defendants were back in the courtroom on Thursday on charges of complicity in the killing of protesters during the uprising that toppled Egypt's longtime president.

The hearing of former interior minister Habib el-Adly and six top police officials was broadcast live on Egyptian state television.

The seven first appeared in court on Wednesday in the same defendants' cage with Mubarak and his two sons — one-time heir apparent Gamal and businessman Alaa — in a related case that is tried by the same judge.

The judge gave the lawyers a week to examine evidence before hearings resume on Aug. 14. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cops hunt for suspect in fake bomb scare

Australian police were hunting Thursday for a masked man who chained a fake bomb to a woman's neck after breaking into her wealthy family's home in an extortion attempt.

Bomb squad specialists safely freed Madeleine Pulver, 18, after 10 hours with the device attached around her neck.

The woman was not injured. The device contained no explosives. A note of demands had been attached to the device. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

29,000 kids dead: U.S.

SCHALK VAN ZUYDAM/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Women stand in line to get water in a refugee camp in Dadaab, Kenya, on Thursday. The camp was designed for 90,000 people but now houses about 440,000 refugees, almost all of whom are from war-ravaged Somalia.

More than 1,000 refugees arrive daily to a crowded camp in Kenya

The drought and famine in Somalia have killed more than 29,000 children under the age of five, according to U.S. estimates, the first time such a precise death toll has been released related to the Horn of Africa crisis.

The United Nations has said previously that tens of thousands of people have died in the drought, the worst in Somalia in 60 years.

The UN says 640,000 Somali children are acutely malnourished, a statistic that suggests the death toll of small children will rise.

Nancy Lindborg, an official with the U.S. government aid arm, told a congressional committee in Washington on Wednesday that the U.S. estimates that more than 29,000 children under the age of five have died in the last 90 days in southern Somalia.

That number is based on nutrition and mortality surveys verified by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

The UN on Wednesday declared three new regions in Somalia famine zones, bringing the total number to five.

Out of a population of roughly 7.5 million, the UN says 3.2 million Somalis are in need of immediate lifesaving assistance.

Getting aid to Somalia has been made more difficult because al-Qaida-linked militants control many of the areas. Tens of thousands of refugees have fled south-central Somalia in hopes of finding food. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Penguin earns web following

- Wayward animal discovered on New Zealand beach
- Happy Feet to have a GPS tracker attached to his back

Happy Feet is now a creature of the Internet age.

The wayward emperor penguin, discovered on a New Zealand beach six weeks ago, will soon be returned to the wild — but not before he picked up an online following of more than 120,000.

That's how many unique visitors have logged onto a web camera monitoring his every move. Thousands more are expected to follow the updates after he's released in coming weeks, with feeds from a GPS tracker attached to his back posted online.

His followers don't seem bothered that Happy Feet, nicknamed after the 2006 animated movie, does little more than eat, sleep and occasionally waddle.

"At 11:20 p.m. in New Zealand, Happy Feet was sound asleep with his left foot and flipper sticking out," one Facebook fan wrote.

The penguin was found June 20 on Peka Peka Beach, about 65 kilometres northwest of Wellington and far from his Antarctic feeding grounds. He was moved four days later to the Wellington Zoo after becoming ill from eating sand, which he likely mistook for snow.

He has since gained weight and been given a clean bill of health to return to the ocean.

His unusual journey captured worldwide interest, with local station TV3 setting up a webcam on June 30 in his small, ice-filled room at the zoo.

The phone calls began coming in soon after, even prompting the zoo one night to send a veterinarian to check on the penguin after the station was swamped by worried callers convinced Happy Feet had died, zoo spokeswoman Kate Baker said. It turned out the penguin was sleeping.

One woman wrote an email to TV3 saying she was ill but taking "a lot of comfort in simply watching the penguin."

Prosecutor: Norway killer keeping quiet

A Norwegian prosecutor said Thursday he is concerned that Anders Behring Breivik, the confessed perpetrator of last month's attacks that killed 77 people, is declining to give information that could determine if he had accomplices.

"We still think he was alone, but we cannot conclude about that," said prosecutor Christian Hatlo.

Hama resident: Gardens used as cemeteries

Gunmen in plainclothes are randomly shooting people in the streets of the besieged Syrian city of Hama and families are burying their loved ones in gardens at home for fear of being killed themselves if they venture out to cemeteries, a resident said Thursday.

Charest backs minister

Quebec's premier has expressed clear support for the way the province's embattled transport minister is handling an infrastructure crisis.

Jean Charest says Sam Hamad has had a difficult job of reassuring the public in the wake of a collapse in a major Montreal tunnel.

Hamad has also had other complex issues to handle even before the collapse above the Ville-Marie expressway.

MARKET MAYHEM

Stocks plunge, fear sets in

North American stock markets took a hammering Thursday as investors grew more pessimistic about the economy.

The composite index on the Toronto stock exchange plunged 435.89 points to 12,380.13, its biggest one-day decline since June 2009. New York markets also fell hard, with the Dow Jones industrial average tumbling 512.76 points to 11,383.68. And recent reports show that U.S. manufacturing, consumer spending and hiring are below healthy levels.

"The evidence suggests there is now the risk of a serious economic slowdown," said Sid Mokhtari, market technician at CIBC World Markets.

Investors will be looking at economic data released Friday for more perspective on the direction of the U.S. economy. Canadian jobless figures for July will also be released on Friday and economists expect about 20,000 jobs were created.

One heckuva Caddy shack

- GM upgrading Oshawa plant to roll out new Cadillacs next year
- Says plant will play critical role in transformation of the luxury car

General Motors will invest $117 million to refit its assembly plant in Oshawa, Ont., to build the new Cadillac XTS next year.

GM said Thursday that the move will create or save 400 jobs on the flexible assembly line in Oshawa, site of the company's Canadian headquarters and main car-making operations.

The plant has had major changes in the past year, with new vehicle models and expanded production that has added two shifts and 1,300 jobs. It builds many GM models, from the Impala and Camaro to the Chevrolet Equinox and Buick Regal, and employs more than 4,500 people.

The Cadillac XTS is being designed to compete against other luxury cars, a highly competitive market. Production is planned to start next year.

General Motors Co. said Thursday that its second-quarter profit nearly doubled to $2.5 billion US as it got higher prices for its cars and trucks worldwide.

GM Corp. and its Canadian subsidiary were bailed out by the U.S., Canadian and Ontario governments two years ago.

Only time — or the "dot dot dot" (thanks Bentley) — will tell whether they make it to the altar, as the batting average of couples who actually stay together from past Bachelor seasons is something like .150.

3 Atwood for Mayor: A public feud between Margaret Atwood and Toronto Coun. Doug Ford (Mayor Rob's older bro) that began over public libraries (he wants to close branches to save $$$; she says no way) has led Atwood supporters to begin a cheeky, viral "Atwood for Mayor" campaign on social media and around Toronto. Atwood's not biting: "Noo, not running for Mayor.. too old. Used to think Too Ignorant, but that hasn't stopped some. :D Appreciate the kind thoughts however!" she tweeted out to her 235,000 followers.

4 Kings of Leon in trouble?: Frontman Caleb Followill walked off the stage in Dallas last weekend, citing heat exhaustion, and didn't return. In an act of commendable transparency, his brother, bassist Jared, sent out a couple tweets: "Dallas, I cannot begin to tell you how sorry I am. There are internal sicknesses & problems that have needed to be addressed. No words", and "I love our fans so much. I know you guys aren't stupid... There are problems in our band bigger than not drinking enough Gatorade." The band has cancelled the rest of its U.S. tour., and apparently wants Caleb to go to rehab to address his drinking problems.

5 The Change-Up opens: This body-switching comedy starring Jason Bateman and Canada's Ryan Reynolds starts Friday, with Bateman playing an overworked lawyer, hubby and dad, and Reynolds a single man-child. Think an alpha-male version of Freaky Friday on steroids, and you've got a couple of escapist hours of outrageous, over-the-top LOL high jinks.

6 MTV turns 30: MTV turned 30 earlier this week and for a time had the impact on the music industry that Rolling Stone magazine did when it launched in 1967. In recent memory, of course, it has become much more about pop culture than the music, but college kids still want their MTV. They just watch it while also listening to iTunes and checking out YouTube videos.

7 Neil Armstrong: Happy 81st birthday to the first man to walk on the moon, on July 20th, 1969. To celebrate, since Mr. Armstrong shares a birthday with Adam Yauch from the Beastie Boys, may we suggest a listen of Intergalactic?

8 Robbie Alomar: His No. 12 is now hanging from the rafters at Rogers Centre after being retired. Hope the next celebration he can be a part of is another Jays World Series. 2012 will be their year.

Worth Mentioning

JERRY LEWIS. Comedian Jerry Lewis and the Muscular Dystrophy Association aren't saying why they're fully parting ways after 45 years and raising more than $1 billion for the non-profit through its annual telethon.

But the 85-year-old comedian told reporters last week that he plans to hold a press conference the day after this year's telethon to talk about what he thinks is important.

When pressed by a reporter about his role with the telethon, Lewis said: "It's none of your business."

The association announced Wednesday that Lewis was no longer its national chairman and he would not appear on the telethon this year.

In May, Lewis said in a statement issued through the association that he would make his final appearance on the telethon this year and sing You'll Never Walk Alone during a six-hour primetime broadcast scheduled for Sept. 4.

When asked what he'd have to do to be satisfied with his life, Lewis said: "Get the cure for muscular dystrophy, then I'm fine."

WEIRD NEWS

You don't need to get a bee in your bonnet, but ...

It was a traffic accident with an added sting.

RCMP officers had to close an Alberta highway Thursday after a truck carrying honey bees rolled into the ditch.

Mounties say the contents of 104 hives spilled onto both sides of the two-lane road southeast of Edmonton.

Police say the accident happened when one of the truck's wheels dropped over the highway's shoulder into the ditch. The flatbed rolled onto its side and skidded several hundred metres when the driver over-corrected in his attempt to get the wheel back on the road.

The owner of the bees arrived on the scene and advised the fire department to spray a mixture of water and foam. RCMP say that killed a lot of the buzzers and brought the situation down to a "manageable level."

The owner also arranged for several of his workers to help clean up. The surviving hives where loaded into two separate vehicles and taken back to their home.

The escapees are European honey bees, which aren't nearly as aggressive as potentially deadly African honey bees, which are known to pursue, swarm and sting. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Plot synopsis

- In modern day San Francisco geneticist James Franco develops a cure for Alzheimer's which when tested on chimps gives them extraordinary intelligence. When he rescues a baby chimp from his lab after an experiment gone wrong, the ape, named Caesar, uses his newfound smarts to begin a revolution between humans and apes. This ape is mad as hell and he's not going to take it anymore.

Apes remake lacks soul

Rise of the Planet of the Apes is full of action, but loses the camp appeal of the original ◗ Crouse and Breslin concur: this classic was better left untouched

Richard: Mark, I love Planet of the Apes. I've seen the original and the sequels countless times but I don't think Rise will find its way to my Blu ray shelf. I liked the action and some of the monkey business was very cool, but honestly, I wish they would have kept their stinking hands off my beloved damn dirty apes.

MB: Yes, Richard, one tinkers with a masterpiece at one's own peril. And I can't help but miss the elements that made the original franchise so great, mostly the heavy-handed irony, satiric wit, and that the apes talked!!! These apes are just too real, grunting away like a bunch of...apes. Although, even the CGI isn't perfect. In some shots, Caesar, the lead ape, looks like an overgrown Beanie Baby.

RC: I thought Andy Serkis's performance-capture work as alpha ape Ceasar was both one of the movie's strengths and weaknesses. No doubt his facial expressions, particularly the use of his eyes, add much to the character but the computer generated imagery used to bring Caesar to life, while often impressive, lacks an organic feel. The Roddy McDowell era apes were obviously fake — sometimes painfully so — but somehow they had more soul.

MB: I don't know about you, but I found the story — Science Experiment Gone Awry! — cheesy and derivative, but I did enjoy Caesar's antics in James Franco's house, which were pure kinetic poetry. But I suspect the entire movie exists for the last 20 minutes when the apes run amok in San Francisco. Genuinely thrilling, for me. Did you think Franco is really the reason to see the movie?

RC: No, I don't think Franco or Freida Pinto are reason enough to see the movie. It's all about the monkey business. When the revolution begins the movie kicks into gear and becomes the movie the trailers promised. Some of the action is a bit too showy — since when can apes do martial arts? — but the scene of Caesar on horseback leading the charge against the heavily fortified cops is a real crowd pleaser but for my money it took WAY too long to get to the good stuff.

MB: There's also a lot of hack work in the minor roles: John Lithgow's saintly Alzheimer's patient, the angry next door neighbour, and worst of all, Franco's boss at the research facility — a cardboard villain out of a much cruddier film. The apes had more depth, although perhaps that's the point of the movie.

Blige gets personal with The Help

Singer's soundtrack contribution is about moving forward She's doing that by testing her acting chops

DEBBIE LYNN ELIAS
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

While she's lent her musical talents to films before, Grammy-winning singer Mary J. Blige wanted the Living Proof, her contribution to The Help, to be more than a mere soundtrack listing.

Based on Kathryn Stockett's best-selling novel of the same name, the Help captures the essence of 1960s Jackson, Miss., chronicling the relationships between three very different women who come together around a secret writing project that puts them all at risk.

"I saw a screening of the movie twice," Blige explains.

"At each screening I had my Blackberry and I would write down each time something would make me cry and I would write down when I laughed. By the time we got to the studio, the song was almost written."

And while the song intertwines thematically with the film, it's still an intensely personal piece for Blige. "It means everything to me," she says of the tune. "It means I know exactly where I'm going. I know what lies ahead for me. I know that my journey continues because it's been so rough here that to have any life, I have to have the courage to keep moving."

And moving forward is something Blige excels at, starting with moving from music into acting. Having already made several television and film appearances, most recently in Tyler Perry's I Can Do Bad All By Myself, Blige is currently shooting Rock of Ages.

Describing her casting in the Broadway smash-turned-movie as "a blessing," Blige plays Justice, "a gentlemen's club owner — a very nice strip club owner," she says.

"I have to be the light in a dark place. Normally the person that's always the most bubbly person is the person with the most problems. The person is always smiling. So, that's who Justice is. And that's basically my part. Of course there's singing. I sing and I act."

Blige is taking her new career seriously, working with an acting coach to hone her skills. "I'm improving," she says modestly.

HANDOUT

While she says music has given her great confidence in life, "acting is just the opposite. It says to me, 'You've got a lot of work to do. You're blinking. You're stuttering. Keep working on that. Keep working on your confidence.'"

And where does she hope that growing confidence will take her? Ideally into a Steven Spielberg film. "If he ever does a huge movie, I would love for him to call Mary J. Blige to be one of the African-Americans in the film," she says. "That's a big deal."

The Change Up
Genre: Comedy
Director: David Dobkin
Stars: Jason Bateman, Ryan Reynolds, Olivia Wilde

The Change Up, a new comedy starring Ryan Reynolds and Jason Bateman as best friends who switch personalities, feels as though it switched directors midway through.

The first hour is all gross out — baby endangerment, diaper hijinks and pregnant sex kittens — but into the second hour the characters not only start respecting one another, but the audience as well. It's still pretty outrageous stuff, but it has far more heart than the first half and the "I can't believe they just did that" laughs morph into genuine laughs based on the story and characters.

The Future
Genre: Drama
Director: Miranda July
Stars: Hamish Linklater, Miranda July
◍◍

The Future is more twee calculation from performance-artist-turned-filmmaker Miranda July; if it improves on her previous work, it's only because its story of a couple stuck in a rutis is a little more relatable. A device involving narration by a sick cat is particularly painful.

Critics slam Oprah's Oscar

▶ Oprah Winfrey

Film academy president Tom Sherak is coming to Oprah Winfrey's defence.

Sherak says Winfrey is "one of the most philanthropic performers in the world" and thus deserving of the academy's Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award.

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences voted Tuesday night to present Winfrey with an Oscar statuette at the annual Governors Awards in November.

Blogs have been abuzz with criticism over the selection of Winfrey.

In an article published Wednesday, Los Angeles Times columnist Patrick Goldstein calls the academy decision "a bonehead-ed move."

Goldstein and Deadline.com's Nikki Finke say Winfrey belongs more to the world of television than film. She was nominated for a supporting actress Oscar for 1985's The Color Purple, produced and appeared in Beloved in 1998 and was an executive producer of 2009's Precious.

Finke asks in her post if "no one among the philanthropic film bigwigs deserved this award more than her this year?"

Gleeful ambition

Up and coming singers duke it out for coveted guest stint on Glee

AMBER RAY
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN NEW YORK

No one has been named the next star of Glee just yet, but the contestants on The Glee Project already feel like bona fide celebrities.

Earlier this week, the final six singers walked the red carpet at NBC Universal's Television Critics Association party at trendy The Bazaar by Jose Andres in Los Angeles; and each of them looked every bit a star, too.

"It was amazing," contestant Alex Newell gushed during an interview. "We all love to perform, but to get recognized for what we do and what we love to do is amazing. I know that I loved it, and I know that everybody loved to be on a red carpet for the first time too."

The downside of fame via a reality competition, however, is that only one contestant wins the grand prize of a seven-episode guest stint on Glee.

The producers admit the process of whittling down the talent pool on a weekly basis was "excruciating."

"Everyone is fit for the show, which made our decision even more difficult," says mentor Zach Woodlee, who also serves as choreographer/producer on Glee.

"We actually had to look at this show as a trial and sort of a boot camp to get people Season 3 ready. So each week it was who is raising the bar. We would sit there and be like, 'Who is making the most progress in this week?' It's who was ready to be at Season 3 quality of our cast on the scripted show."

HANDOUT

A look at the man behind the music

RAY CHARLES. Jamie Foxx earned raves for his uncanny portrayal of legendary musician Ray Charles in Ray.

Airing Friday, the biopic delves into the singer's childhood hardships, problems with drugs and women, as well as the monumental achievements that would make him an icon in music and civil rights. (BET)

Ain't lust grand

LET THE HOOKUPS BEGIN. Yet another romantic sitcom about a group of singletons joins the lineup on Friday night, this time it's Friends With Benefits.

Party Down cad Ryan Hansen stars as picky Ben, who is on the hunt for the perfect woman while sleeping with his best friend, Sara, played by Danneel Ackles of One Tree Hill. Back-to-back episodes air tonight, starting with the pilot. (NBC)

Finding love in a time of war

COLD MOUNTAIN. Fans of old-fashioned love stories should find plenty to swoon over in Anthony Minghella's star-studded Cold Mountain, a sweeping romance set in the final days of the U.S. Civil War airing Saturday.

Jude Law stars as a wounded Confederate soldier who abandons his duties to make his way home to his sweetheart, played by Nicole Kidman.

Ted Danson busts crime

63-year-old actor jumps in as new supervisor for Las Vegas CSI team
'I feel like I have walked into this perfect situation for me', he says

DAN STEINBERG/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Ted Danson

It was just three weeks ago that Ted Danson was announced as the new star of CSI: Crime Scene Investigation, and now he's in production — and a bit dazed by the suddenness.

"My jaw is kind of hanging down from the newness of all of this," Danson told reporters on Wednesday as he recalled that just two weeks earlier, he was leisurely staring out at the ocean from Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

Danson plays the new supervisor for the Las Vegas CSI team on the CBS drama, which films in Los Angeles. Danson steps into the position originally held by William Petersen and then filled by Laurence Fishburne, who had been on the show since its 2008-09 season.

Danson's character, D.B. Russell, is the child of counterculture parents who schooled him themselves at home and during travels in their van. He has a less obsessive way of experiencing the world than his fellow investigators.

Explained CSI executive producer Don McGill, "Here's this character who has things really, really in balance: family; work; life."

"I feel like I have walked into this perfect situation for me," Danson said.

The 63-year-old actor first found TV stardom nearly 30 years ago playing Boston bar owner Sam Malone on Cheers, a comedy hit on NBC that ran for 11 seasons.

And though he has had a variety of roles since then, he said he had never played a crime-buster before.

But even now, he said, "They still won't give me a gun."

CSI, whose stars also include Marg Helgenberger and George Eads, will begin its 12th season on Sept. 21.

But will it go on to match the longevity of Law & Order and Gunsmoke, which tie the record for TV drama at 20 seasons?

"Ted has signed on for an additional 12 years, plus an option," joked executive producer Carol Mendelsohn.

"Yeah — I think it will."

'Zack Morris' rides for AIDS

DAN STEINBERG/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FILE

▶ Mark-Paul Gosselaar

Mark-Paul Gosselaar is keeping busy while on hiatus from his TNT Franklin & Bash dramedy by trekking across the U.S. East Coast on a motorcycle ride for charity.

Kiehl's skin care company's six-day LifeRide for amfAR raises money for AIDS research.

The former star of Saved by the Bell is participating in the last three days of the ride starting Thursday — from Boston to New York City.

For Gosselaar, an avid motorcyclist, the event was a no-brainer. "Setting a good example for my kids and leading by example is very important to me," said the father of two.

His love of motorcycles started young with his older brother Mike, a well-known motocross mechanic, teaching him to ride at age 3.

Mark-Paul was competing in motocross races by the time he was 5.

The actor said he's passed the passion onto his children, Michael Charles, 7, and Ava Lorenn, 5.

"My son was riding by the time he was five," said Gosselaar.

"I have pictures of me with him in a BabyBjörn, and I'm on my motorcycle, and that's the way that he would go to sleep. I'd ride around on my property at five miles an hour, but it was the noise and the wind that would put him to sleep." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bass want to get married, have kids

Marriage is definitely part of the plan for former N'Sync star Lance Bass.

"I definitely want that. I'm a Southerner. We dream of having the family and the kids, and the parents want grandkids, that's all they care about; 'Give me some grandbabies,'" he tells the Daily Beast.

But first he has to find a boyfriend.

While he's been spotted with more than a few men on his arm since his breakup with Reichen Lehmkuhl in 2006, the unidentified beau he's seeing now is the closest he's come to something serious, he insists.

"We dream of having the family and the kids, and the parents want grandkids, that's all they care about; 'Give me some grandbabies.'"

Osbourne calls out Aguilera for past insults

HOLDING A GRUDGE. Kelly Osbourne doesn't mince words when it comes to Christina Aguilera. On a recent episode of E!'s Fashion Police, while mocking Aguilera's outfit, Osbourne unloaded.

"Maybe she is just becoming the fat bitch she was born to be," Osbourne said.

The anger apparently comes from personal history.

"She called me fat for so many f—ing years. So you know what? F— you! You're fat, too." METRO

Paltrow looks to change image

TRYING MUSIC Gwyneth Paltrow is looking to shake up her image.

"It's good to shock people who think of me as the prim Gwyneth Paltrow," she tells Elle magazine.

One way she's looking to do that, under the guidance of some very famous friends, is by exploring a music career.

"Beyoncé Knowles and Jay-Z — they think that I should just go do it by myself. That I should go in a studio and see what happens," she says.

"And if it's good, do it. And if it's not, don't. So that's probably what I'll do."

The art of mix & match

If you're a fan of single varietal wines (those made with just one grape), it's time for some tough liquid love. Most wines that display one grape on their label are made from a juice blend.

But there's no need to riot. The laws of almost all wine producing countries allow for the mingling of fruit to balance flavour. What's typically displayed on the front panel is the primary grape which is usually more than 85 per cent of the union.

The French love the idea of mixing grapes. For example, winemakers in the Rhone Valley's famed Châteauneuf-du-Pape appellation can have their way with more than 13 to come up with their final cuvée.

The Aussies' have mastered the mega blend with wines like Peter Lehmann's 2008 Layers Red ($16.99 - $19.99) a berry mash of shiraz, tempranillo, carignane, mourvèdre and grenache that's red meat ready.

Grill for meat lovers & herbivores

- This weekend, make veggies the main dish & use meat as an accent
- Food Network star Guy Fieri offers a recipe for a grilled romaine salad

A salad should be chopped in the kitchen, not at the table. That's the advice of Food Network star Guy Fieri, who prefers salads made from bite-size pieces. "A good salad shouldn't require a knife," he said.

However it does require a salad spinner, or some other means of drying the greens. One of Fieri's salad turnoffs is wet lettuce. "It needs to be rinsed and dried," he said.

Here, Fieri offers an intense salad of grilled romaine lettuce.

"The sweet flavour of the romaine comes out when you char it on the grill," he said. "Hit it with the balsamic vinaigrette, bacon, onion and blue cheese and you have a nice balance of sweet and savory flavours."

MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATE PRESS

▶ This recipe takes just 15 minutes to make and serves six.

Preparation:

1. Heat a grill to high. In skillet over high, heat 15 ml (1 tbsp) of olive oil. Add onion and bacon and cook until bacon is crispy, about 10 minutes. Use slotted spoon to transfer onion and bacon to plate. Return skillet to heat and add the balsamic vinegar and 15 ml (1 tbsp) of the olive oil. Bring to a simmer, then cook to reduce for 2 minutes. Remove from heat.
2. Brush romaine with remaining 30 ml (2 tbsp) of olive oil, then season with salt and pepper. Place on grill cut side down and quickly sear until grill marks are visible. Set aside.
3. For each serving, place half a head of romaine cut side up on a plate and drizzle the balsamic dressing. Sprinkle with blue cheese and the bacon and onion mixture, then season with black pepper.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ingredients:

- 60 ml (4 tbsp) extra-virgin olive oil, divided
- 175 ml (3/4 cup) finely diced red onion
- 250 g (1/2 pound) bacon, diced into small pieces
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) balsamic vinegar
- 3 romaine lettuce heads, halved lengthwise, cores removed, leafy ends trimmed
- Salt and black pepper
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) crumbled blue cheese

Sports in brief

The Vancouver Canucks have signed forwards Owen Nolan and Todd Fedoruk to professional tryout contracts, the NHL team said Thursday.

Nolan, 39, has played 1,200 career NHL games, recording 885 points from 422 goals and 463 assists, plus 1,793 penalty minutes. The six-foot-one, 205-pound right-winger has played for seven teams and spent the 2010-11 season with Zurich of the Swiss League, where he scored seven goals and added 19 assists in 24 games.

A native of Belfast, Ireland, Nolan was picked first overall by the Quebec Nordiques in the 1990 draft.

Rays rookies rally

The rookies were major contributors in Tampa Bay Thursday, helping the Rays come back twice in extra innings to beat the Toronto Blue Jays 7-6.

- Brandon Jennings' solo homer in the 10th made it 4-4. Robinson Chirinos tied it again in the 11th with a two-out, pinch-hit single up the middle against Shawn Camp (1-2), then won it with another two-out single in the 12th.
- The Blue Jays took a brief lead in the 10th when Colby Rasmus delivered a RBI double for his biggest hit since being acquired from St. Louis. Reliever Jon Rauch blew a save chance in the bottom half when Jennings hit a leadoff homer.
- Jose Bautista hit his league-leading 33rd home run for Toronto, a solo shot off Wade Davis that made it 3-3 in the eighth.

Jose Bautista bumped back to right field to make room for young third baseman from Langley

Canadian third baseman Brett Lawrie will soon make his long-awaited debut with the Toronto Blue Jays.

The team selected his contract from triple-A Las Vegas shortly after the Jays dropped a 7-6, 12-inning decision to the Tampa Bay Rays on Thursday afternoon.

"We wanted to get him some August at-bats to get a little bit more of a read on him, so he deserved to be up here," general manager Alex Anthopoulos said on a conference call.

Outfielder Travis Snider is the odd man out and he was sent back down to the triple-A club.

"It was not an easy decision to make," said Anthopoulos. "It really came down to (rookie right-fielder) Eric Thames and Travis. (Manager John Farrell) and I talked about it at length and player performance is really what it came down to."

Snider has hit .225 in 49 games this season with three home runs and 30 RBIs. Thames is hitting .272 in his first season in the majors with 22 RBIs and five home runs in 46 games.

"When you look at the numbers and the performances to date, they both haven't done all that well in the last week or so," said Anthopoulos. "Eric Thames is probably a little bit ahead of (Snider) in July, but on the season, overall, Eric's played a little bit better than Travis."

"We wanted to find out about Brett Lawrie sooner rather than later."
JAYS GM ALEX ANTHOPOULOS

Anthopoulos said Thames would move to left field and the newly acquired Colby Rasmus will stay in centre.

The Blue Jays also recalled left-hander Luis Perez from Las Vegas and placed right-hander Carlos Villanueva on the 15-day disabled list with a right forearm strain.

The 21-year-old Lawrie has hit .353 for Las Vegas this season with 18 home runs and 61 RBIs. The top prospect was acquired from the Milwaukee Brewers last December in the Shaun Marcum trade.

"You know you're not going to be 100 per cent sure. Like I always say, the likelihood with all young players is that they're probably going to have to go back down, but at least you want to do the best you can developmentally to prepare them for being up here," Anthopoulos said.

"Hopefully now with Brett he can be up here to stay for the entire year."

Kornegay looks forward to facing old team

It's the perfect scenario for Tad Kornegay.

The hard-hitting linebacker will play his CFL first game as a B.C. Lion on Friday night against his old team, the Saskatchewan Roughriders. Kornegay was careful with his answer when asked if the game at Empire Field was personal, since the Riders released him earlier this year.

"It's hard to say no, but you can't look at it that way," said Kornegay, who spent four seasons in Saskatchewan and won a Grey Cup in 2007.

"I'm going to play hard-nosed football. I'm not going to let up just because they are my old teammates. I would love to win this game."

Lions defensive back Korey Banks thinks his 29-year-old teammate wants to send a message.

"Nobody wants to get cut," said Banks. "Then play your old team the next (game), that is great.

"Their reasons didn't make sense. I can't be bitter. Everybody is going to be released in their career."
TAD KORNEGAY

"That's an ideal story for him. He knows those guys and they know him. He will have a good game."

The game will pit two struggling teams against each other. The Riders are 1-4 while B.C. is the league's only winless team at 0-5.

Wide receiver Weston Dressler is off to a good start this season with 26 catches for 389 yards and two touchdowns. He said the Riders aren't used to looking up at other teams in the standings.

"Ever since I've been here we've gotten off to pretty good starts," he said. "It's a different situation. We kind of look back to last year a bit. We went through that stretch toward the end of the year where I think we lost four games in a row. We are tying to use that as a little motivation."

The Lions know a win keeps them in the West Division mix. A loss shoves them deeper into the league basement.

"We want to start winning and we want to start winning now," said slotback Geroy Simon.
